

Practical Application

---

- What are some examples of batch processing that you work with?
  - How could this batch processing be improved by a one-piece-flow system?
- What are some examples of push systems that you work with?
  - How could these push systems be improved by converting them to a pull system?
  - In what ways could a Just-In-Time inventory system also help improve the flow of these systems?